African American History

Instructional Standards Guide

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION’s AFRICAN AMERICAN HISTORY TASK FORCE

Revised 2014
Introduction

This infusion model is organized and designed according to the developmental ranges, each with an interdisciplinary theme. This allows teachers flexibility in adapting curriculum content to the needs and experiences of students. These frameworks recommend a format and content focus that emphasize a humanities based, multicultural approach for all levels of instruction.

_Grades PreK-2_ focus is on culture and provides students with exposure to the basic beliefs, customs, and traditions of their own, and African and African-American families through the use of stories, legends, and myths.

_Grades 3-5_ focus is on the dynamic dimensions of the historical and physical development of Africa with respect to country, state, and the biographies, timelines, and critical events in Science, Literature, Technology and Culture. Particular attention will be paid to how these developments impacted the rest of the world.

_Grades 6-8_ focus is on broad Geographic, Humanities, and Multicultural perspectives to understand the global connections of the African and African American experiences.

_Grades 9-12_ focus is on world history, and the history of classical civilizations, including Africa. The importance and contribution of Africans and African Americans in the areas of geography, economics, literature, language arts, sciences, and contemporary issues will also be explored.

Introduction

This infusion model is organized and designed according to the developmental ranges, each with an interdisciplinary theme. This allows teachers flexibility in adapting curriculum content to the needs and experiences of students. These frameworks recommend a format and content focus that emphasize a humanities based, multicultural approach for all levels of instruction.

- Grades PreK-2 focus is on culture and provides students with exposure to the basic beliefs, customs, and traditions, of their own, and African and African-American families through the use of stories, legends, and myths.

- Grades 3-5 focus is on the dynamic dimensions of the historical and physical development of Africa with respect to country, state, and the biographies, time lines, and critical events in Science, Literature, Technology and Culture. Particular attention will be paid to how these developments impacted the rest of the world.

- Grades 6-8 focus is on broad Geographic, Humanities, and Multicultural perspectives to understand the global connections of the African and African American experiences.

- Grades 9-12 focus is on world history, and the history of classical civilizations, including Africa. The importance and contribution of Africans and African Americans in the areas of geography, economics, literature, language arts, sciences, and contemporary issues will also be explored.
Special Note to Readers:

These curricula outlines are intended to provide teachers with information to begin the development of their lesson plans in teaching African and African American History. As in all curricula frameworks, the information provides a focus for the reader. Ultimately, the teacher may add additional information based on the needs of the students and the interest of the faculty.
The Law Mandating the Teaching of African and African American History: May 1994 and 2002

Florida Legislature F.S. 233.061 Sec. (1) (G) (1994) as amended by F.S. 1003.42 (h) (2002) that mandates:

“(h) The history of African Americans, including the history of African peoples before the political conflicts that led to the development of slavery, the passage to America, the contributions of Africans to society.”

1003.42. Required Instruction

“(2) Members of the instructional staff of the public schools, subject to the rules of the State Board of Education and the district school board…

Shall teach efficiently and faithfully, using the books and materials required, following the prescribed courses of study, and employing approved methods of instruction, the following:”
The study of African Americans’ contributions to the culture of the United States and the world as it concerns African Americans’ participation in improving the political, economic, and social development of humanity.

A close scrutiny of the Florida Statute 1003.42 (h) requires instructions in the history of African Americans, including the history of African peoples, and emphasis on the teaching of ancient African history and connections to African Americans.

However, the model, which follows, clearly points to fact that ancient African history surpassed slavery and post slavery. It provides a positive set of information indicating that Ancient Africans were developed and civilized peoples who created complex and sophisticated societies. Many African societies built classical universities covering such diverse disciplines as the natural sciences, extensive literary forms, and politics.

An example of this development according to Clarke (1981) was the University of Sankore in Timbuktu, Which stood for over 500 years. The Moroccans and faculty destroyed the university in 1591 and scholars were exiled. Ahmed Baba authored over 40 books on such themes as theology, astronomy, ethnography, and biography. His rich library of 1600 books was lost during his expatriation from Timbuktu. Therefore, any model for teaching African history must focus on the rich, yet forgotten history of these African civilizations, and the Golden Ages in African which were unmatched by any other ancient civilization at the time.

Grades 3-5

Theme Cultural and Technological Development

Overview
The students will focus on the dynamic dimensions of the historical and physical development of Africa with respect to country, state, and the biographies, time lines, and critical events in Science, Literature, Technology and Culture. Particular attention will be paid to how these developments impacted the rest of the world.

Next Generation Sunshine State Standards

- SS.3.A.1.1: Analyze primary and secondary sources.
- SS.3.A.1.2: Utilize technology resources to gather information from primary and secondary sources.
- SS.3.A.1.3: Define terms related to the social sciences.
- SS.3.G.1.3: Label the continents and oceans on a world map.
- SS.3.G.1.4: Name and identify the purpose of maps (physical, political, elevation, population).
- SS.3.G.4.1: Explain how the environment influences settlement patterns in the United States, Canada, Mexico, and the Caribbean.
- SS.3.G.4.2: Identify the cultures that have settled the United States, Canada, Mexico, and the Caribbean.
- SS.3.G.4.3: Compare the cultural characteristics of diverse populations in one of the five regions of the United States with Canada, Mexico, or the Caribbean.
- SS.3.G.4.4: Identify contributions from various ethnic groups to the United States.
- SS.3.C.2.1: Identify group and individual actions of citizens that demonstrate civility, cooperation, volunteerism, and other civic virtues.
- SS.4.A.1.1: Analyze primary and secondary resources to identify significant individuals and events throughout Florida history.
- SS.4.A.1.2: Synthesize information related to Florida history through print and electronic media.
- SS.4.A.8.1: Identify Florida’s role in the Civil Rights Movement.
- SS.5.A.1.1: Use primary and secondary sources to understand history.
- SS.5.A.4.1: Identify the economic, political and socio-cultural motivation for colonial settlement.
- SS.5.A.4.5: Explain the importance of Triangular Trade linking Africa, the West Indies, the British Colonies, and Europe.
- SS.5.A.4.6: Describe the introduction, impact, and role of slavery in the colonies.
- SS.5.E.1.1: Identify how trade promoted economic growth in North America from pre-Columbian times to 1850

Grade Level Expectations

A synthesis of the Next Generation Sunshine State Standards in Social Studies in addition to the grades 3-5 Standards indicate that students should be able to do the following:
- Read detailed informational text and summarize it.
- Analyze various sources to obtain information.
- Make inferences from various sources about a specific historical topic.
- Construct narratives based on particular historical events.
- Construct timelines based on informational text and summarize the timeline.
- Explain motivations behind particular historical events.
- Read informational text to describe the relationship between various groups of people in history.
- State and write their opinions regarding historical events as based on informational texts.

Content Africa as a Classical Society

- During grades 3-5 students will focus on examining the development of classical societies and cultures of the world as well as their own country, state, and the county through the study of the historical and physical perspectives (in the areas of social, economic, political and technological perspectives).
Students will learn about critical events that shape the history of African Americans. This information will provide a general understanding of the contributions of all racial groups, including Africans and African Americans to the world, United States, and Florida.

The critical examination of immigration, migration, and dispersion of slavery will provide information on how these systems impacted people, including Africans and African Americans.

Students will view African and African American history prior to the slavery era. For example, Africans lived in kingdoms, cities, and highly developed communities, as well as in a system including agriculture, village, and community life.

African and African American history and life are often a sensitive and difficult process for teachers to teach. Thus, the focus on Ancient Africa will provide students with a contact prior to the enslavement period and a sense that African and African American history evolved before slavery. Teachers are encouraged to view African and African American history as a part of classical world history of the Americas and the United States of America.

Recommended Student Activities
- Map Labeling
- Reading Immigration Maps
- Reading Diaspora Maps
- Vocabulary
- Grade level writing activities
- Reading and Discussion
- Reading Comprehension

African and African American Diaspora

Europe, Asia, the Americas, the Caribbean, and Florida

Grades Middle School 6-8

Theme Europe, Asia, the Americas, the Caribbean, and Florida

Overview The students will focus on broad Geographic, Humanities, and Multicultural perspectives to understand the global connections of the African and African American experiences.

- Middle School students are at the development stage in their growth when interpersonal relations are strained or result in conflicts. By developing a broad multicultural perspective, students will enhance their understanding, respect, and appreciation for people of other racial and cultural backgrounds. The use of the five themes of geography will form a framework for examining critical issues common to our county, state, nation, and world communities. Please note although the courses are written with grade specific standards, no course is required to be taught at any particular grade level,

- The goal is to help students develop the necessary skills which will enable them to make positive interpersonal decisions, and participate in social action which benefits all human beings despite race, ethnic origin, gender, cultural, or physical backgrounds.

Content

Ancient Africa, Africa in Transition, The Civil Rights Movement, and the Contributions of Africans and African Americans to the World.

Ancient Africa should be studied because as Davison (1971) said, “Africa is the world’s second largest continent.” To begin to understand Africa and its peoples, including African Americans, is to understand its pre-slavery period which included African Kingdoms. The African American living in the United States of America today represent a wide variety of individuals of African descent whose beginning dates back to before Columbus’ presence in the Americas and before the beginning of slavery.

- Slavery: Post Columbus in the Americas— Slavery and European exploitations started around 1490 A.D. and continued for over 300 years. The slavery experience and the journey through the Middle Passage was one of humankind’s worst atrocities. The journey took three weeks to three months from West Africa to the shores of North and South America. Tolliver (1993) estimated that although 100 million Africans died at the hand of their captors, over 25 million made it to the shores of the Americas. Slavery, according to Tolliver, was an economic system where profit and exploitation of forced and cheap labor of African men, women, and children were the centerpieces of the slavery system. Africans brought to this country as slaves, were not allowed to speak their own language, use their own names, practice their own religion, perform their own cultural rituals, and most importantly, maintain their governmental system, values, and beliefs (Van Sertima, 1990). Thus, the slavery that occurred during this period was unlike any other form of slavery practiced in the history of mankind. This painful history of African Americans must be told along with the rich contributions of Africans which predated slavery and continued throughout the post-slavery period. The United States of America grew economically because of the cheap labor system fostered by chattel slavery.
The Abolition of Slavery, Civil Right, Constitutional Rights, and the Contributions of Africans and African Americans to the World.

Continued Grade High School 9-12

- Neo-Slavery: Abolition, Civil Rights and Constitutional Rights -- This period from 1800 to 1861 which involved the struggle of abolitionists. Even though the slave trade legally ended in 1808, illegal slave trading continued (Banks, 1991). Despite the abolitionists struggle and Nat Turner's slave revolt of 1831, the Fugitive Slave Act of 1850 posed a great problem for the Abolitionists' movement and affirmed that Africans could not be citizens. It was not until 1863 that President Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation, which freed slaves in those states that were fighting the Union. The struggle for citizenship and freedom was not guaranteed until the passing of the Thirteenth Amendment in 1865, which legally abolished slavery; the Fourteenth Amendment in 1866, which made African Americans citizens; and the Civil Rights Act of 1866, which gave African Americans civil liberties. In 1870, the Fifteenth Amendment was enacted to give African Americans the right to vote. The struggles for civil and human rights continued from 1870 and continue today where the enjoyment of full civil rights for African Americans remains a struggle.

- The Soul of African Americans -- Oliver (1993) discusses the myths and stories which characterize the values and beliefs which have been historically central to the lives of African people on the mainland of Africa and throughout the world; values and beliefs which Karenga (1966) and Useni (1981) have captured in the African American celebration called “Kwanzaa.” These values and beliefs of family, community, spiritualism, and material goods trace its roots to the principles of the MA'AT which dates back to 3200 B.C. - 700 B.C. The economic and human resources of African Americans in the United States of America are significant. African Americans, since Madame C.J. Walker, have been millionaires and today there are many millionaire athletes, business people, performers, and T.V personalities like Oprah Winfrey. The exploration of economic contributions is important in understanding the roles of African Americans in American society.

- Contributions of African and African Americans to the Untied States of America and to the World - The contributions of Africans may have been lost in the history books, but careful examination of well documented evidence by Rogers (1991), Van Sertima (1990), and others show that Africans and Africa Americans have contributed in meaningful ways in areas of art, music, science, literature, politics, and developed inventions which shaped America’s future).

Contemporary Issues Impacting Africans and African Americans

Overview

The students will focus on the contributions of Africans and African Americans, which have been lost in the history books. Careful examination of well-documented evidence by Rogers (1991), Van Sertima (1990), and others will show that Africans and African Americans have contributed in meaningful ways in the areas of art, music, science, literature, politics, and inventions which have shaped America’s future. The soul of Africans and African Americans is an important concept to explore by studying the myths, stories, and history, which characterize the values and beliefs in the culture of the people of African descent by celebration and cultural values such as Juneteenth, Kwanzaa, and the MA’AT.
